

HOWARD UNIVERSITY

AEA Summer Training Program

May 23—July 21, 2024 • Washington, D.C.

- Intensive two-month residential program
- Two levels of study
- Course work in math, microeconomics, econometrics, and research methods
- Real-world experiences unique to the nation’s capital
- Presented in collaboration with the Women’s Institute for Science, Equity and Race, and economics faculty collaborator, the US Federal Reserve Board

Howard University and the American Economic Association extend a warm thanks to our 2023 sponsors:

Amazon
 American Society of Hispanic Economists
 Analysis Group
 Association for Economic Research of Indigenous Peoples
 Bates White
 Cornerstone Research
 Federal Reserve Board of Governors
 National Economic Association
 National Science Foundation
 Peter G. Peterson Foundation
 Stata
 Women’s Institute for Science, Equity, and Race

Application deadline: January 31, 2024

For more information:

<http://economics.howard.edu/aeasp>

Email aeasp@howard.edu

“It is inspiring to see the caliber of research the students are able to produce by the end of the program.”

Jevay Grooms
 AEASP 2016, 2017, and 2021
 AEASP Research and Faculty Fellow

“Participating in the AEASP has not only reaffirmed my desire to pursue a Ph.D. in Economics, but it has better prepared me for it.”

Lauren Taylor
 Spelman (B.A. '21) and HU (M.A. '22)
 AEASP 2022

